

Aero Consultants

Aero Consultants primary activities are the sourcing and selling of a full range of composite related materials for the aerospace, automotive and other industries with lightweight applications. The Company offers advice, support and solutions for all issues related to the manufacturing of lightweight composite parts.

For 50 years, Aero Consultants have been the representatives of a number of leading advanced composites material suppliers.

A complete range of auxiliary materials for vacuum manufacturing techniques, structural materials, including adhesives, and a full range of surface treatment materials is provided.

Aero Consultants is both a service and logistic partner for all of the materials distributed by them. The Company owns large storage facilities and employs a team of fully trained and qualified personnel to guarantee full traceability and product quality.
